

Right: A moment when the League Cup Final might have swung our way—Tommy Baldwin, second-half substitute for the injured Paddy Mulligan, is so nearly set up from a brilliant right-wing move by Cooke and Hudson . . . but that long Stoke leg deflects his shot behind.

Below: Thirteen Chelsea corners to two by Stoke reflects the general direction of the play over the match. But it's goals that decide, and with 18 minutes left Eastham has just scored what was to prove the winner—a goal and a prize for which the Potteries had waited 109 years.
