WELCOME, LADS & LASSES

IN March a party of boys and girls from this school will be travelling down to Windsor to spend the week-end in the London area, playing sports fixtures, visiting places of interest, etc. This is the third such venture I have been connected with, and it just happens that Chelsea are at home to Liverpool.

At the corresponding time last year we saw Chelsea play Spurs at White Hart Lane, so watching Chelsea play in London is becoming something of an annual event for some of the pupils from the school.

Chelsea are my natural choice for I have supported them for as long as I can remember, having been resident in West London for most of my life. Incidentally, my father is a Season-ticket holder in West Stand and sends me all the Chelsea programmes for distribution in the school.

● A very warm welcome to Sir and his school party, and we hope this visit to Stamford Bridge adds to the enjoyment of your week-end in London.

DOG THAT BARKS "CHELSEA"

OUR Alsatian, "Maxie", must surely be your only dog fan. He has his own rosette, and whenever anyone says "Chelsea" he barks.

● This could be the start of something! Do any other fans have pets with a special "party piece" connected with Chelsea?

WEBB FOR ENGLAND?

SURELY David Webb must be one of the finest half-backs in the Football League and England today, yet after getting raving and encouraging reports from the press and fans alike, he is still waiting for his England cap.

Isn't it about time Sir Alf Ramsey was invited to Stamford Bridge to see this highly efficient player in action?

I should also like to mention the outstanding performance of Paddy Mulligan, and the terrific effort the rest of the lads have shown recently.

● Sir Alf was here a few weeks ago when we beat Everton 4-0.

LONG-RANGE FAN FROM U.S.A.

I JUST happen to be Chelsea's biggest fan—my only problem is that I reside in the United States. My association with Chelsea started a few years ago when I lived in the South Kensington area of London.

I am twenty-four years old and am seeking correspondence from a young lady between eighteen and twenty-five in hopes that she could keep me posted on Chelsea's results. I would be more than happy to return a favor from the United States.

I am presently the Manager of a Health Club in the Washington D.C. area. My best wishes to the Chelsea football program and its team—too bad the United States can't catch on to the world's greatest sport.

Bill Weld.
