one League game, when his deputy was Alan Harris, who recently joined Coventry City. Harris is the brother of left-half Ron Harris.

Marvin Hinton is now in his first full season at Stamford Bridge, having been signed from Charlton Athletic in August last year. He has taken over at right-back from Ken Shellito, who was a regular choice until the middle of October.

The last time Chelsea visited us was in the Second Division, at the end of 1962-63 campaign. They won (1—0) here, after having gained a victory by the same score on their own ground earlier in the campaign. As our followers know only too well, their Roker victory ended our hopes of gaining promotion that season. As they followed with a (7—0) home victory over Portsmouth in their concluding game they pipped us on the post by goal average.

We thus have more than the unusual incentive for victory this afternoon.
