OUR VISITORS

Chelsea come to Roker Park today in defence of their record of not having lost on their opponents' grounds this term. They have taken 16 points from ten away fixtures, winning six and drawing the other four, and are the only side in all divisions still unbeaten away.

Their victories have been at Wolves (3—0), Sheffield Wednesday (3—2), Arsenal (3—1), Sheffield United and West Bromwich (both 2—0) and Birmingham (6—1). They have drawn at Aston Villa and Nottingham Forest (each 2—2) and Leicester and Tottenham (both 1—1).

They have however, suffered three defeats at Stamford Bridge—by Manchester United, Burnley and West Ham—those being the only games in which they have failed to score. The other eight home games have brought seven wins—including that at our expense when they won (3—1) on August 29—and a draw.

The Londoners' are challenging Manchester United strongly for the First Division leadership, and so far there has been no indication that they are feeling the strain of being among the leading pace makers.

As their record shows, they are a really first-class side, with a sound defence and free-scoring forward line. One of the outstanding members of their attack is George Graham who was signed from Aston Villa at a very modest fee during the close-season. Graham, who scored when making his debut against us in the third match of the campaign, has made amazingly rapid progress in the intervening period, so much so that he won his first Scottish Under-23 cap against Wales on December 2. He has averaged a goal a game in his eleven League appearances for the Pensioners.

Graham, who was 20 at the end of last month, has established a fine partnership with outside-right Albert Murray, another member of the Chelsea team who has reached Under-23 status. Murray who played for England in the Under-23 game with Rumania in November, has missed only one League game this term, and has scored eight goals.

Centre-forward Barry Bridges and inside-left Terry Venables—who at 21 is among the youngest players ever to captain a First Division side—have also been regular choice. Bridges has nine League goals to his credit and Venables five.

The recent retirement through injury of former England international outside-left Frank Blunstone has provided manager Tommy Docherty with one of his few problems, that of finding an adequate replacement. Tommy Knox, Peter Houseman, and the more experienced Bobby Tambling have all occupied the position. Tambling an England Under-23 and full-international, has alternated between the left wing and inside-right this season, and has netted eight times, but Houseman and Knox have yet to open their scoring account after six and ten League games respectively.

Three members of the Chelsea defence have played in every League match to date. These are goalkeeper Peter Bonetti, right-half John Hollins—the “baby” of the team at 18—and left-half Ron Harris. Marvin Hinton, who was switched from centre-half to right-back towards the end of October has missed one game. His move led to the recall of former England amateur international John Mortimore.

one League game, when his deputy was Alan Harris, who recently joined Coventry City. Harris is the brother of left-half Ron Harris.

Marvin Hinton is now in his first full season at Stamford Bridge, having been signed from Charlton Athletic in August last year. He has taken over at right-back from Ken Shellito, who was a regular choice until the middle of October.

The last time Chelsea visited us was in the Second Division, at the end of 1962-63 campaign. They won (1—0) here, after having gained a victory by the same score on their own ground earlier in the campaign. As our followers know only too well, their Roker victory ended our hopes of gaining promotion that season. As they followed with a (7—0) home victory over Portsmouth in their concluding game they pipped us on the post by goal average.

We thus have more than the unusual incentive for victory this afternoon.

THE REFEREES CHART

By kind permission of the Football Association, extracts from the Referees Chart, advice to Referees, Secretaries and Players, together with International Board decisions, will be reproduced here throughout the Season.

Advice to Referees

A thorough knowledge of every clause of this Law is absolutely essential, but its correct application depends on the Referee's ability to make up his mind immediately whether or not an offence is intentional.

Take particular note that in Clause (c) it is jumping at an opponent, and not jumping for the ball, that is a foul. There is no such thing as accidental jumping at an opponent.

In Clause (i) note that unless the hand or arm strikes or propels the ball it is not a foul ; far too often a player is penalised when the ball touches his arm through no intentional action of his own.

It is possible for a player to charge an opponent fairly but at the wrong time, viz., when the ball is not within playing distance. If you consider that such action infringes this Law, it is a breach of section (2) and an indirect free-kick shall be awarded whether the offence be inside or outside the penalty area.

If the goalkeeper obstructs an opponent he may be charged even when in his goal-area. See that the goalkeeper is not unfairly charged, as he has so little chance of protecting himself when his attention is engaged with a coming shot.

The penalty-kick can only be awarded for the following nine offences, intentionally committed by a player of the defending side within the penalty-area :

- (a) Kicking or attempting to kick an opponent.
- (b) Tripping an opponent.
- (c) Jumping at an opponent.
- (d) Charging an opponent in a violent or dangerous manner.
- (e) Charging an opponent from behind unless the latter be obstructing.
- (f) Striking or attempting to strike an opponent.

- (g) Holding an opponent.
- (h) Pushing an opponent.
- (i) Handling the ball.

If any of these nine offences is committed by a player of either side outside the penalty-area or by a player of the attacking side inside the penalty-area, a direct free-kick should be awarded.

Do not allow players to crowd round you to question your decision or get you to change it.

Although a player is entitled to charge the goalkeeper when the latter is in possession of the ball, i.e., holding the ball, it is not permissible for such a player to kick or attempt to kick the ball under such circumstances. The use of the foot amounts to dangerous play and should be dealt with accordingly, i.e., an indirect free-kick against the offender.

It is not necessary to wait until the ball is out of play or for a stoppage in the game before giving a signal to a player that he may join or rejoin his team.

Advice to Secretaries

Bring to the notice of the club committee misconduct on the part of any player. If a professional player persists in offending he should be dealt with under F.A. Rule 27, or in other cases be removed from membership.

Advice to Players

This is one of the most important Laws and you are bound to offend against it unless you learn and understand all the Laws. Try not to be penalised or even cautioned; it is natural that if a player has been cautioned, his subsequent offences are considered as more serious. The following points may help you to keep within the spirit as well as the letter of the Law :

- (a) Never retaliate when fouled, for you at once become liable to punishment yourself and if you are ordered off you may be suspended.
- (b) Realise that there is no such thing as accidental jumping at an opponent.
