Right: What's this, Peter Osgood and Harry Medhurst having a heart-to-heart behind the goal while the game goes on? Not quite. Harry was making extra sure Ossie was all right to carry on after hitting the surrounding wall at full speed.

Below: When a Cup-tie is over, it doesn't matter too much whether you've won by one goal or ten. The important thing is getting through. Our one goal at Blackpool was enough, and this is it, scored just after half an hour—a back header by John Dempsey to Peter Houseman's corner. John is seen looking back by the far post, while on the right a delighted Chris Garland signals the goal.
