

(7.30 p.m.). That would mean four first-team home games in eight days, for we have League matches against Manchester United (September 30) and Blackburn (October 3) and the big night against Benfica on October 7.

There was a big improvement last Saturday following our programme appeal to keep off the pitch, but a number of boys nevertheless went on the field at the end of the match.

We would remind the comparative few miscreants that they are in danger of spoiling match days for all our young supporters who know how to conduct themselves.

It is a great pity when the many are made to suffer for the actions of the few, but this is a final warning that any further pitch "invasion" will result in the privilege of half-price admission being withdrawn.

The co-operation of all spectators would be appreciated in discouraging young spectators from going on the field.

We are pleased to inform patrons that a complete new public-address system is to be installed at Stamford Bridge, and we hope to have the new loudspeakers operating within a month.

It's 20 minutes to kick-off, and while you are settling into your places round the ground and in the stands, down in the dressing-room Peter Bonetti limbers up in preparation for the afternoon's work ahead. Then it's on with the green jersey and into action.
